

Conservationists Ask Continued Purchase of Catskill Mt. Park Lands

Commissioner Osborne Outlines 12-Point Program, Pointing Out 5-Million Fund Has Become Exhausted.

ACTIVE PROGRAM

State Would Continue Active Jurisdiction—Asks Federal Aids Be Maintained.

Albany, May 3 (Special)—Recommendation for continuance of acquisition of lands in the Adirondacks and Catskills on a "modest scale," is contained in the annual report of the State Conservation Commission, submitted to the governor and the legislature.

A 12-point program outlined in the letter of transmittal from Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborne, points out that "the $5,000,000 forest preserve purchase fund provided by the state park bond issue of 1926 has been exhausted. Provision should be made for continuing at least on a modest scale the acquisition of lands in the Adirondack and Catskill parks."

Other Points

Other points of the suggested program are:

The state should continue to maintain the lands and forests under the jurisdiction of this department in their present excellent condition, particularly along the lines of protecting forests from fire, pest and disease.

Cooperative work with the Federal Government in the management of the CCC Camps in this state, in the activities of the Rural Resettlement Administration, and in the flood control and soil erosion campaign should be continued.

The state should resume as soon as possible the full operation of the reforestation program as directed in the constitutional amendment of 1931.

In view of the large increase in the number of hunters and fishermen the state should immediately expand its fish and game management program as more revenue is now coming into the conservation fund and a large surplus is accumulating. Such extension would be entirely self-supporting as are the present activities of the division of fish and game.

Growing Demand.

Serious consideration should be given to the apparently growing demand on the part of leading conservationists and sportsmen in favor of splitting the license fees for fishing and hunting and trapping on a basis which will increase the income into the conservation fund and hence the moneys available for wildlife management.

The policy inaugurated in 1935 acquiring for the people of the state fishing rights in privately owned streams has proved so successful and popular that it should be continued and expanded with new appropriations out of the conservation fund.

There should be a reorganization of the Bureau of Game in the division of fish and game to permit the more perfect practice of new game management principles.

The new Bureau of State Publicity has been remarkably successful in its first two years of operation and its activities and appropriations should be enlarged.

Recreational Facilities.

Recreational facilities in the forest preserve have been considerably expanded with CCC labor in the last three years. This should continue with particular emphasis on the construction of ski trails for winter sports lovers.

The State park system is being used by more and more people each year. There is need not merely for continuing its operations at the present high state of efficiency but for expanding these activities to meet the public demand, particularly at this time by the extension of existing State parkways.

Special attention should be given in the 1937 session of the Legislature to the forthcoming report of the Division of Water Power and Control upon the sub-surface water conditions on Long Island which are approaching the critical stage. Some legislation may be needed to prevent a major catastrophe.

Greater Public Interest

The report, continues, by pointing out that there has been greatly increased public interest in conservation during the past four years, but that except for assistance assigned to this State by the Federal Government, there has been no sweeping expansion along conservation lines in New York. The problems of state finances and unemployment relief are given as reasons for the restraint of conservation activities.

Attention is called to the increased use of the free public camps in the Forest Preserve, "more widely used than ever before." Public use of the State parks also increased the report states, except in the Finger Lakes region, where many of the parks were so badly damaged by the floods of 1935 that they were not fully restored.

DUKE OF WINDSOR

MRS. SIMPSON

Rowe Foreman Of Grand Jury

James L. Rowe of Kingston was appointed foreman of the grand jury with John W. Carn of Saugerties as acting foreman when the May term of Supreme Court was convened this morning before Justice Russell. It is the May grand jury which will conduct the investigation into the activities of Father Divine in Ulster county.

Witnesses have been subpoenaed for attendance this afternoon before the grand jury when Faithful Mary's subpoena is returnable but whether the investigation will be continued until completed or whether the matter will be interrupted for the transaction of other matters will depend entirely upon the order which District Attorney Cleon B. Murray and the grand jury decide to follow.

An extra panel of 25 trial jurors was drawn and court recessed until 2 o'clock.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, May 3 (AP)—The condition of the treasury April 30: Receipts, $16,736,725.08; expenditures, $20,379,727.58; balance, $1,701,512,813.45; customs receipts for the month, $46,252,162.57. Receipts for the fiscal year, $4,091,498,610.68; expenditures for the fiscal year, $4,246,133,898.45, including: $2,373,688,562.97 of relief expenditures; excess of expenditures, $2,154,685,287.77; public debts, $34,940,629,364.65, an increase of $1,531,739.47 over the preceding day; gold assets, $11,793,283,470.81, including $567,996,792.58 of inactive gold.

Benedictine Auxiliary Meeting
Patrons of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital Ball, who have not yet made returns for their tickets, are asked to kindly do so, on or before Wednesday of this week, when the ticket committee for the charity ball of March 28, gives its final report. Patrons may send their checks to Miss Mary Campbell, St. James street, treasurer, or to the member of the ticket committee who solicited their patronage, as they are anxious for all returns to be in before the regular business meeting of the auxiliary on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the nurses' home.

Faithful Mary Gives Testimony to Grand Jury, Tells On "God"

Rebel "Angel" Appears Before Jurors This Afternoon to Tell of Immorality in Various Divine Extension Heavens.

MOTHER DIVINE GOES

Leaves Benedictine Hospital To Take Up Residence in Heaven Near Port Ewen.

Faithful Mary arose early this morning to primp for her appearance before the Ulster county grand jury this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and to refresh her recollection on happenings in the Divine Kingdom while she was an angel.

Faithful, or "Faithless" as she is now called by Divinites, was served with a subpoena last week calling her to testify before the grand jury against "one John Doe."

"I don't know any John Doe," she said as she took the paper from Deputy Sheriff Arthur Brown, "but if this has anything to do with Father Divine, I know plenty about him."

As she sat in Peace Market prior to accepting the summons, Faithful discussed conditions in the kingdoms, with reporters, informing them that immorality existed. She was expected to tell the same story to the grand jury.

Two Others to Tell.

Mrs. Willie Coppock of Newark, a close friend, and John Victory, Mary's chauffeur, also received summonses from the district attorney. Mrs. Coppock vividly described to reporters about conditions in the heavens.

Sheriff Attorney Murray has refused to discuss with the press, the nature of the grand jury investigation, and the only indications reporters had that the morality angle would be involved was from the stories told to them by Faithful and Mrs. Coppock.

"I hope to have a surprise announcement for you," he informed newspapermen, "after the grand jury session."

This morning Faithful was driven to the court house in her new Buick limousine by John Victory. She was accompanied by Charlotte Allen, her 293 pound secretary, who has been with her since last Thursday.

Mrs. Coppock went to Newark last evening, but was to return for the investigation this afternoon.

Sunday Faithful Mrs. Coppock, Victory and reporters sat in Peace Market lounge watching Father Divine lead a motorcade of 20 cars through High Falls. He stopped at several of his missions in the village to procure clothing for followers who were in need.

Directly across the highway from Faithful's abode, "the revolving house," a group of negroes became involved in a quarrel with Sid Livingston, a reporter for the New York Journal.

10 Witnesses

Only eight women and two men witnessed the proceedings from the gallery.

Walter Frampton, who represented Mrs. Simpson in the original action at Ipswich, attended the court session accompanied by a representative of her solicitors.

Frampton, wearing the traditional black robe and white curled wig, rose and hurried from the courtroom as soon as the decree was made final.

It was believed he immediately telephoned the news to Mrs. Simpson at Tours, France.

Thus one of the most famous cases in English legal history—W. Simpson vs. E. Simpson, suit for divorce—drew to a close.

Unexciting from a legal point of view, the suit's repercussions were world wide and shook an empire of 500,000,000 subjects.

Through it a hitherto obscure shipping broker lost his vivacious, American-born wife, an empire lost a king, and a lawyer's clerk lost his temper.

Six Months Ago

A little more than six months ago Mrs. Simpson's big sedan rushed through the gates into Ipswich court.

U. S. Supreme Court Delays Social Security Ruling Until May 17; Other Decisions Due

Fred Rich's Narrow Escape on Saturday from Coal Gas Fumes

Sexton of Wurts Street Baptist Church Found Lying Unconscious on Cellar Floor in Church—Pulmotor Used Successfully and He Recovers.

About 6 o'clock Saturday evening Frederick C. Rich of 360 Hasbrouck avenue, sexton of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, went to the church to look after the fire in the heating plant. He was found over three hours later lying unconscious on the cellar floor, by his son-in-law, Edward Sammons, who had gone searching for him when he failed to return home. Dr. John Krom and the Central Fire Station were called and Mr. Rich was revived sufficiently with the use of the pulmotor to be conveyed to the Kingston Hospital in the Conner ambulance, where he remained until noon Sunday when he was taken home, where he is rapidly improving from the effects of the coal gas fumes.

Mr. Rich said that when he entered the church cellar he became aware of coal gas fumes, and left the cellar door open and also one of the windows. He said that he had experienced gas in the cellar on previous occasions and got rid of it by lifting the cold air damper in the heater pipe and lighting a piece of paper and placing it in the pipe to rid the air of the fumes.

The sexton said that all he can recall is opening the damper in the pipe and being met with a rush of gas. He collapsed to the cellar floor unconscious and remained in that condition until shortly after 10 o'clock when he was found by his son-in-law, Mr. Sammons, when he entered the cellar and found Mr. Rich lying on the cellar floor and rushed to the parsonage adjoining the church and notified the pastor, the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, and the telephone was used to summon Dr. Krom and the firemen.

Fremont Fred Williams and Peter Carey responded with the pulmotor and Dr. Krom also hurried to the church. They worked over Mr. Rich for fully half an hour before he was revived sufficiently to be placed in the ambulance and removed to the hospital.

Mr. Rich not only serves the church as its sexton but is employed as an engineer on the Hutton brickyard. He was to have worked on the brickyard until 10 o'clock that evening, and when he failed to return home his wife telephoned the brickyard and learned that he had not been there that evening.

Becoming anxious she called to Mr. Sammons who first drove to the church. He found the electric lights lighted in the cellar and the trap door open and entered.

While still confined to his bed today Mr. Rich has apparently recovered from the effects of inhaling the coal gas and expected to resume his duties on the brickyard on Tuesday.

Will Present Demands.

Pittsburgh, May 3 (AP)—The United Electrical and Radio Workers' Union, an affiliate of the committee for industrial organization, moved today to present demands to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company as sole bargaining agent for the firm's 47,000 workers. The union, headed by 25-year-old James Carey, also demands a seven-hour work day and a five-day week, double pay for overtime and a general increase of 10-cents an hour for all workers.

Votes Earlier Retirement

Albany, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—Governor Lehman vetoed today a bill that would have allowed members of the state employees retirement system to retire at 55 instead of 60, with the state paying for the earlier retirement.

Burlesque Case Goes Before Jury Next Week

New York, May 3 (AP)—Burlesque grasped at a legal straw today when Supreme Court Justice Samuel L. Rosenman said a jury would decide next week whether License Commissioner Paul Moss used proper discretion in denying license renewals to the city's 14 burlesque theatres.

Attorneys for three of the theatres appeared before Justice Rosenman today and asked for a writ of mandamus ordering Moss to immediately issue licenses for the 1937-1938 season.

This request the justice denied. He said, however, he would issue an alternative writ under which critics and proponents of burlesque would have an opportunity to be heard.

The court said arguments would be limited to the question of whether Moss exercised proper discretion in refusing the licenses.

Troopers Injured In Auto Collision; Truck Driver Held

Corporal Norman Baker and Trooper Andy Klein of the New Paltz outpost were injured Saturday afternoon when their Troop car was in collision with a 10-ton Dalrymple milk truck on the Kingston-New Paltz road near the Tschirky place. Only the quick action on the part of Corporal Baker prevented a more serious accident and possible death for the troopers.

At the time of the accident Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein were answering a call for State Troopers at the court house where Father Divine, the Harlem evangelist, and a score of his followers had descended upon the court house and invaded the office of District Attorney Murray.

Responding to the teletype message about 12:30 o'clock Corporal Baker was driving toward Kingston and on the long level stretch of highway near the Tschirky place the milk truck and a car of David Markle of New Paltz were passing. The truck in charge of John Howard Hart of Middletown loomed up in front of the trooper car and in order to prevent a serious crash Corporal Baker swung his car to the ditch. It was slid-swiped by the truck but a head-on collision was prevented.

The trooper car went into the ditch and turned over pinning Corporal Baker behind the wheel. Trooper Klein was thrown to the rear of the car. Corporal Baker suffered injury to his back, shoulder and leg and will be confined to his bed for some time. Trooper Klein was injured about the hand and arm. Both were taken to the office of Dr. Virgil DeWitt at New Paltz for treatment and later taken to their homes.

Hart was placed under arrest on a reckless driving charge and was arraigned before Justice J. C. Barnor and held for a hearing which was set down for Tuesday morning.

Corporal Baker and Trooper Klein were both injured last August while doing traffic duty on N-Y in the town of Lloyd. They had stopped to apprehend an operator of a car and a second car came up behind them at a high rate of speed and collided with their stationary car.

Trooper Baker suffered a severe injury to the neck and Trooper Klein who had alighted and was standing by the car was thrown in the air and suffered a severe leg injury which confined him to the hospital for some time.

The accident Saturday afternoon happened on the same stretch of road near the Tschirky place where a short time ago a fatal accident happened when Fred A. Stacey of Walden was killed.

GRETA GARBO'S CASE IN LOS ANGELES COURT

Los Angeles, May 3 (AP)—The legal machinery was geared today to raise the curtain on a courtroom drama starring Greta Garbo—in person.

But there was still doubt whether the actress actually would come out of seclusion.

She is defendant in a $10,500 suit. It was brought by an assignee of David Shrader to recover three loans the former Berlin film producer said he advanced her in 1924.

At the time, Garbo was a $300-a-week player in European pictures and rated "obscure."

Last October, Garbo was quizzed for a deposition in which she denied Shrader had ever given her financial assistance.

Her replies then were mostly "No." She said she was under 21 in 1924 and Maurice Stiller, her former director, made arrangements for her film engagements, for "I was a little too young to determine those things, I think."

Garbo's attorneys contend the statute of limitations has expired on the supposed obligation, whose existence they deny.

Action Makes It Possible Court Will Decide Separate Cases on Unemployment Insurance, Old Age Pensions.

DEBATES DUE

Justices Will Hear Old Age Pension Debates; U. S. Wins Belmont Case.

Washington, May 3 (AP)—The Supreme Court delayed today at least until May 17 a final decision on constitutionality of the Federal Social Security Act.

This action made it possible that the court will decide at the same time separate cases involving the unemployment insurance and old age pension provisions of the security law.

Arguments on the unemployment insurance sections already have been heard. The justices will listen to debate on the old age pension provisions tomorrow, or Wednesday.

They then will adjourn until May 17 and devote their entire time to writing opinions preparatory to adjourning for the summer early in June.

By a unanimous vote, the court held constitutional a provision of the 1934 Revenue Act imposing a processing tax of three cents per pound on coconut oil imported from the Philippines.

In the only other decision delivered, the justices upheld the right of the Federal government to sue in this court for recovery of money in this country assigned to it by the Soviet government under the 1933 recognition agreement.

The government won, however, in the Supreme Court today a decision that it had a right to sue the executors of August Belmont and Co., a New York banking firm, for $25,438 which had been assigned to the United States by the Soviet government under the 1933 recognition agreement.

The litigation was described by the government as a test case to determine whether it could collect approximately $8,000,000 assigned to it under the recognition agreement.

Justice Sutherland, delivering the court's opinion, emphasized that the decision dealt only with the Belmont case.

In concluding his opinion, the justice said:

"It results that the complaint states a cause of action and that the judgment of the court below to the contrary is erroneous. In so holding, we deal only with the case as now presented and with the parties now before us."

The tribunal reversed the action of the circuit court of appeals at New York dismissing the government's suit. The decision reinstates the litigation, government attorneys said, and it will now proceed to trial.

Real Chance.

Washington, May 3 (AP)—Senator Burke (D-Neb.), a leader of the opposition to the Roosevelt court bill, said today "there might be a real chance to get together" with the administration if it abandoned the President's proposal and agreed to a compromise suggested by Senator Hatch (D-NM) for appointment of one justice a year.

Burke's statement, made at the end of an executive session of the judiciary committee at which Hatch described his proposal, was the first hint from opposition leaders that some compromise might be acceptable.

Hatch has offered two amendments to the Roosevelt bill—one to limit Presidential appointments to the supreme court to one a year except for normal vacancies, and the other to make the increase in the size of the court only temporary.

Under the President's program, the membership of the high court could be enlarged by as many as six unless justices now over 70 retire.

The committee also discussed today a proposal by Senator Logan (D-Ky.), a supporter of the Roosevelt bill, to advance the date for voting on the legislation from May 18, the date now fixed by unanimous consent. No agreement was reached, but Senator Hatch told newspapermen "we may take that procedure."

"In my opinion," Hatch said, "the committee is ready to vote."

$30,000 ANNUAL SUM FOR PRINCESS ELIZABETH.

London, May 3 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth, pretty 11-year-old heir presumptive to the British throne, was recommended today for an annual grant of £6,000 ($30,000) in a report of the commons civil list committee.

The Duke of Windsor, who gave up an annual salary of approximately £1,000 ($5,000) in addition to his throne, was not mentioned.

Total recommendations of the civil list are £10,000 ($50,000) annually. When Princess Elizabeth comes of age, the committee recommends her pension be increased to £15,000 ($75,000) a year.

Miss Mary Bruyn Wed To Dr. Chas. D. Roberts

Miss Mary Baldwin Bruyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeWitt Bruyn of Englewood, N. J., and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Myron Teller and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Bruyn of this city, was married in Englewood Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church to Dr. Charles DeWitt Roberts of Milton, Mass., son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. DeWitt Roberts, of Milton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl Hopkins Elmore, the pastor, assisted by the bridegroom's father, rector of the Milton Episcopal Church. The reception was at the Bruyn residence.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a princess gown of ivory satin, with a veil of old point lace, and carried orchids, gardenias, and lilies of the valley. Miss Ellen Chandler Bruyn was her sister's maid of honor. Attendants were Miss Alice White and Miss Dorothy Lyman of Englewood; Mrs. Charles White of Winchester, Mass.; Mrs. Samuel Earl of New York; Mrs. Edmund Stevens of Lexington, Mass.; and Mrs. Frederick Peters of Englewood. Dr. Richard George Whiting of Boston was best man. Ushers were Dr. Alexander Langmuir, Preston Carnes, and William Romer Teller, Jr., of Englewood; Dr. Kendall B. Holmes of Louisville, Ky.; Edmund Stevens of Lexington, Mass.; and Samuel Earl of New York.

The couple will reside in Boston.

Mrs. Roberts attended Dwight and the Stone Schools and was graduated from the Garland School. She is a member of the Englewood Junior League. Dr. Roberts prepared at the Boston Latin School and was graduated from Dartmouth in 1931 and from Harvard Medical School in 1935. He is a member of Zeta Psi.

Among those from Kingston who attended the wedding were: Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Seelye, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney B. Osterhout, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Tremper, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Staples, Mrs. C. C. Stafford, Miss Mary Treadwell, Miss Anna R. Noyes, Miss Ellen L. Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Myron S. Teller, Mrs. Everett Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant Ellis, Mrs. Eloise Lovatt, Mr. and Mrs. William Hasbrouck, Miss Myra Clark and William T. Fuller.

Mrs. Walter J. Gratton of New York city, formerly of this city, was a Sunday visitor here.

Frederic Holcomb, Jr., is a guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb, of Fair street.

Mrs. Harry P. Van Wageningen, third district director of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Ward Brigham, county chairman, were guests today of the Albany Lotus Club at its annual luncheon at the Ten Eyck Hotel.

Miss Ruth Flicker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Flicker, of 170 Ten Broeck avenue, was one of seven junior women selected last week for membership in Mortar Board, the highest honorary society in Middlebury College. Miss Flicker has recently been elected president of the A Tempo Club; she belongs to the English Club, the German Club, the Mountain Club, and Phi Mu sorority.

Tuesday evening, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Hill will entertain the nurses of the dental clinic at dinner at Tonche Lodge. The guests will be Mrs. Charles Fogg, Miss Mabel Mericle and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Crowley.

Miss Niemont Hewitt of Shokan has returned from a five-months' trip to California.

Junior D.A.R. Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior group of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., will be held at the chapter house, Monday evening, May 3, at 8 o'clock. Important business will be discussed and all members are urged to be present. The nominating committee will make its report at this time and election of officers will take place. Mrs. Rose K. Witter will give an informal talk on her trip to Washington as a representative at the D. A. R. convention. Mrs. Claire Scheffer will be hostess to the group at her home, 18 Schuyler Court, following the meeting. She will be assisted by Mrs. Walter T. Tremper and Mrs. Floyd Ellisworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis G. Nash, who have been spending the winter months at The Huntington, have opened their summer home in Lomontville.

Girl Reserves Stage Brilliant "Holiday"

The Girl Reserve show, "Holidays Around the Year," was given Saturday afternoon in the municipal auditorium before a large audience of school children and adults. The program of musical comedy and comedy skits running into 13 scenes had a cast of 352 girls and was presented with the smoothness of a professional theatrical production. Each year the Y. W. C. A. presents a fine performance with elaborate costuming and novelty numbers. The audience warmly applauded the singing and dancing specialty numbers and were particularly enthusiastic over the skits representing April, October, and December. Each scene represented a holiday in a certain month. October represented two scenes. The numbers were announced by the Misses Jean DuBois and Evelyn Olivet.

In the opening scene, the girls celebrated New Year's Eve with acrobats, cart wheels and dancing. February was a garden scene in which Miss Dorothea Groves sang "Sweethearts" and gay red hearts came to life and danced. St. Patrick's Day represented a holiday in March. Groups of green clad girls danced an Irish number while Miss Helen Schoonmaker sang "Peggy O'Neil". A highlight in the "Holidays" was April's Easter Parade. This opened with pink-eared rabbits and yellow chicks standing in the background. An Easter Parade of years ago was staged during which Miss Gladys Avery sang "Easter Parade". In the group dancing by the rabbits and chicks, Miss Olive Lewis did a Bunny Dance. May Day found the children winding the May Pole. With June came a drill by the graduates in their black costumes and mortar boards. July featured a patriotic tap specialty. In the harvest dance of August, farmers and farmerettes danced with their rakes and brooms.

One of the comedy acts was the "Back to School" scene in September with Miss Wanda Watrous as the teacher. October, which was in two scenes, featured first a gypsy scene, with a gypsy tambourine dance, violin solo, "Gypsy Sweetheart," played by Rosamond Burger, and the gypsy solo dancer, Tillie Garber. Halloween also was represented. First came the skeletons in their effective black and white costumes, then the pumpkins and black cats, danced. November interpreted a hunting scene, in which Marie Manfro was the turkey. The finale of December was Christmas with its Santa Claus, dolls, and Christmas tree. The human Christmas tree was particularly effective. Each girl was dressed to represent a branch and held a shiny ornament in her hand. Again Miss Dorothea Groves appeared, this time as the mother, singing "Santa Claus is Coming to Town" before she sent the children to bed. Miss Helen Ward gave a "Jazz doll" solo dance, and rag, French and sailor dolls, also danced.

The show was staged and directed by Miss Ottilia Riccobono, who also accompanied the dance and song numbers, assisted by Miss Jean Estey. Miss Riccobono deserves much credit for her untiring efforts and original ideas, and in producing such good effects with an amateur group, most of whom have had little previous training.

The Rev. Wm. A. Grier Talks. The Rev. William A. Grier, rector of Holy Cross Church was the speaker at a supper meeting of the Young People's Fellowship of St. John's Church, Sunday night, May 2. Father Grier talked on the subject of "The Religious Life," tracing the history of monasticism, with particular relation to the Episcopal Church. He endeavored to clear up some of the current misconceptions about the life of monks and nuns, and told in detail of their method of life, with its two-fold emphasis on prayer and work, and also of the work done by certain monasteries and convents of the Episcopal Church. In anticipation of the visitation of Bishop Campbell of the Order of the Holy Cross to the parish next Sunday, the talk was most appropriate and interesting.

Opening Concert in Music Week Program

On Sunday afternoon in the Municipal Auditorium, Kingston presented its 14th annual Music Week Concert. Paul Zucca, chairman of the National Music Week Committee in Kingston, introduced the numbers. The Rev. C. E. Brown, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, gave the invocation, after which the audience joined in singing the "Doxology."

The combined Grade School and High School Bands, under the direction of Miss Eva Clinton, opened the program with the playing of four numbers, "Ambition Overture," by Bennett, the attacks and releases of which showed particularly good ensemble work, "Swedish Choral," arranged by Lefgren, "Now Thank We All Our God," by Cruger, and "Activity March" by Bennett. These young musicians received many compliments on their ensemble work.

Mrs. Jessie Cowley Wolfersteig, who needs no introduction as a soloist of merit, followed with a delightful spring song, "To Estro," by Pearl Curran. She was accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Rignall.

A trumpet solo, "The Volunteer," by Rogers, was played by Robert Craft, who had remarkable ease and complete control of his instrument so far as the mechanical aspects of finger dexterity and lip control were concerned.

A group of mixed voices led by Roger Baer and accompanied by Miss Phyllis Craft, sang two numbers. Oley Speaks' "Sylvia," and the popular tune, "Until Today" in which Mrs. Baer took the incidental solo. The members of the chorus singing were: the Misses Helene Gregory, Helen Flicker, Eunice Pretsch, Jeanne Molyneux, Barbara Mathews, Ruby Thorpe, Catherine Bogart, and Arthur Fritlog, Jack Martin, Ernest Mosher, William Bushnell, and Victor Smith.

Robert H. Hawksley, another of Kingston's noted vocalists, sang "The Earth Is the Lord's" by Lynes. Mrs. Hawksley accompanied her husband. As a closing number, the combined bands returned to play, "Project March" by Bennett. The band consists of the following members: Anna Atkins, Bessie Levy, George Clinton, Ivan DeHoff, John Mayone, Richard McConnell, Angelo Perry, John Rowland, Kendall Vogt, Robert Voerner, Junior Well, Robert Craft, John Warren, Robert Fried, Robert Schults, Gerald Krum, Robert Hogan, Herbert Dixon, Bernard Hoar, Donald Selles, Herbert Huettlinger, Robert O'Reilly, Nelson Lester, Richard Waltman, Dixon McGrath, Lionel Gramer, Edwin Koldish, Warren Conklin, Mary Matthews, Lillian Markie, Robert Williams, Bruce Snyder, George Compton, Elmore Yallum, Stanley London, Merrill Yaple, Frederick Storms, Rockwell Bowers, Charles Campbell, Hunter Cohen, Douglas Roosa, Paul Young, Thomas Tomshaw, Mark Silverman, Eugene McConnell, Ray Lindhorst, Homer, Carter, Margaret Culver,

The audience again joined in singing "America" after which Mr. Brown pronounced the Benediction.

This program, which inaugurates National Music Week in Kingston was arranged by a committee consisting of Paul Zucca, chairman; Miss Eva Clinton, Leonard Stine, Robert Hawksley, and Roger Baer.

The Rev. Wm. A. Grier Talks. The Rev. William A. Grier, rector of Holy Cross Church was the speaker at a supper meeting of the Young People's Fellowship of St. John's Church, Sunday night, May 2. Father Grier talked on the subject of "The Religious Life," tracing the history of monasticism, with particular relation to the Episcopal Church. He endeavored to clear up some of the current misconceptions about the life of monks and nuns, and told in detail of their method of life, with its two-fold emphasis on prayer and work, and also of the work done by certain monasteries and convents of the Episcopal Church. In anticipation of the visitation of Bishop Campbell of the Order of the Holy Cross to the parish next Sunday, the talk was most appropriate and interesting.

Saturday evening Miss Ella M. Reynolds of Ravine street was the guest of honor at a dinner dance in the Governor Clinton Hotel in celebration of her 20th anniversary as cashier of the Kingston office of the Metropolitan Insurance Company. Over 60 employees of the company attended the dinner dance, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chandler of Newburgh, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Gannon of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. John Barnard of Gloversville. Mr. Barnard is state chairman of the Metropolitan Association of New York. John H. Morrison, manager of the Kingston office, presided as toastmaster at the dinner. Miss Reynolds was presented with a 20-year service medal by S. T. Beatty, assistant manager of the local office, and on behalf of the employees she was presented a gold wrist watch. The presentation was made by Charles Buchholz of the local office. During the serving of the dinner William Raible sang several selections, and following the dinner dancing was enjoyed to music by Paul Zucca's orchestra.

Announce Marriage. Mrs. William Sullivan of this city announces the marriage of her daughter, Edna M. Buchanan, to Robert D. East, son of Mrs. L. D. Sahler, of Stone Ridge. The ceremony was performed on April 4.

Demple Church. Miss Myrtle E. Church and Ernest P. Demple, both of Kingston, were united in marriage Sunday at 12:45 p. m. by the Rev. A. S. Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Huston.

"WHY DO I FEEL LIKE THIS?"

SO much trouble is caused by chronic constipation! Headaches, upset digestion, nervousness, lack of pep are frequently caused by poisonous wastes that accumulate in the bowels. Too often people merely use some temporary relief. See for yourself! It doesn't make a world of difference in the way you feel after using a purely vegetable laxative. Give a thorough trial to Nature's Remedy (N.R. Tablets). Note how gentle they are—and non-habit forming. Get a 25c box containing 25 tablets, at any drugstore.

Gas, Gas All the Time, Can't Eat or Sleep

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adierika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep and never feel better."

—Mrs. Jan. Fitter.

Adierika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas, pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. R. L. Shand, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli." Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and constipation.

Actors Withhold Action in Joining Strike in Hollywood

Hollywood, May 3 (AP)—Six thousand studio workers were swept into spreading film industry strike today as guild actors arranged a week's lay in joining the walkout.

The 6,000 members of 11 unions in the federated motion picture industry were ordered not to report to work this morning and 3,500 of them were assigned picket duty.

Because of the dispute, which first broke into a strike last Friday night, the federated crafts demand on the major companies for sole bargaining rights.

Charles C. Leasing of the crafts arranged picket lines not only at the studios but at Los Angeles theatres showing their product.

And for the first time in years, the $1-billion-dollar motion picture industry faced a serious production stoppage.

Two thousand actors and actresses, some unknown, others famous, but aligned with the Screen Actors' Guild, attended a meeting last night to vote on strike questions.

Like the Federated Crafts, the guild is seeking a closed shop. It insisted, however, at a decision which would throw 40,000 persons out of work and stop a weekly payroll of $1,500,000.

Conferences Wednesday
Instead, Secretary Aubrey Blair announced, the guild instructed its members to begin conferences with producers on Wednesday and report results to a general meeting Sunday.

"Our principal demands are practically all for free lance players, small parts, extras and bit players," Blair said. "The only things asked for people in higher wage brackets are working conditions and hours that would allow small players get more employment."

It requires 75 per cent approval of the senior membership of the guild, Blair said, to call a strike or order players not to pass through picket lines. Pending negotiations this week, all votes have been held off.

Only 1,200 of the guild's 5,600 members are "seniors," earning $250 or more a week. The remainder are juniors, whose views can only be advisory.

Frank Gillmore, head of the actors' equity, parent of the guild, flew to Hollywood from New York to attend the meeting. A guild card was necessary to gain admission.

In Attendance
In attendance were Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone, Edna May Oliver, Lee Tracy, Paul Muni, Chester Morris, Gary Grant, Adolphe Menjou, Frank McHugh, Richard Dix, Edward Arnold, Elissa Landi, Edmund Lowe, Allen Jenkins, Joan Blandell, Dick Powell and other celebrities. President Robert Montgomery presided.

Belief that a "reasonable and sensible solution" of the issues underlying the strike could be reached was expressed by Pat Casey, labor negotiator for the producers. None of the studios planned to curtail production schedules today, he said.

Producers have declined to grant the federated crafts a closed shop until wage and hour demands are submitted.

The strike came as one large studio, M-G-M, began entertaining exhibitors from the theatre country at a sales convention and other companies were planning similar events.

On several "lots," activity has ebbed, awaiting the start of a new production year, but others have two to six pictures in the making.

The effectiveness of the walkout today to meet its first real test today after slowly gathering momentum.

Only two other big strike calls have been issued in the history of the industry. In 1929, Actors' Equity conducted a walkout. The I. A. T. S. E. staged the second in 1933.

MOVING THE COURT

Another note of confusion enters the judicial picture at Washington. Representative Rankin of Mississippi wants the Congress to move the Supreme Court out of the new Greek temple built for it, and bring it back to its old quarters in the Capitol building. Then he would have the new building dedicated as a monument to Thomas Jefferson. Instead of building him a brand-new one according to established plans. Mr. Rankin says this would stop the controversy over the style of the proposed Jefferson monument, and where it should stand, and at the same time tend to "heal the breach" between Congress and the Court.

Well, the Court didn't want that fancy new building, but seems to have become adjusted to it now, and in any case probably has no present yearning to get any closer to Congress. As for Jefferson, when you remember his well known judicial views, it doesn't seem likely that his ghost would feel exactly at home in that court house. If anybody ever needed a monument altogether his own, it's probably Jefferson.

FEWER HOMELESS MEN

Here is another hopeful sign regarding employment. The welfare commission of New York city reports that the number of homeless men receiving relief has declined 21 percent in six months. Fluctuations in this group, relief officials say, are especially accurate indications for re-employment. Homeless men, destitute from long years of idleness, are among the last to be benefited by improved conditions.

The curve representing the number of such men applying for relief is falling especially since spring began. There has been a drop of 10 percent in April from the March rate. Such figures match employment reports given out by large industries. Vast armies have gone back to work in the last year. But millions are still idle—especially elderly men and women still well able to work, and young men and women who have never had regular jobs. It would be interesting and valuable to know how many of them there are, and how rapidly their ranks are thinning.

NO SWIM SUIT RULES

Police authorities in Florida reports have decided to put the matter of bathing suit modesty, propriety, decency, or whatever it is, up to the individual. They are issuing no rules this season and say they have no intention of patrolling beaches with tape measures and color charts. "We will follow the mode in bathing suits, whatever the mode may be," explains an official. "Those who frequent the beach here and conduct themselves with decorum may wear about what they please." From another report comes the pointed comment: "The new year is 1937, not 1897. Conscience is the only rule of conduct and covering on our city beaches this winter."

Good taste and conscience are to rule. If they are gone with past seasons, as some fear, there may be a general trend toward nudism. Probably this extreme result will not follow. Removal of official restrictions may have an interesting psychological effect, serving to lessen the impudent rivalry which has attracted too much attention to the dimensions of bathing suits and not enough to the swimming and sun-bathing achieved.

KISSING THE KING

Many things about that British coronation fascinate an American. The king-kissing, for example. There is a thrill—a sort of—reading about the painstaking drill undergone by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Peers of the Realm, to get the occasion just right.

The archbishop, says a journalistic witness, appears in full regalia, before the throne, kneels, and goes through the motions of kissing the King on the cheek, although the King isn't there. The Duke of Norfolk, a sort of stage manager, peers around the throne offering suggestions, till the Archbishop gets it just right. Then the Peers in procession march up to the empty throne, planting kisses at the point in space where the King's left cheek is supposed to be, and depart in silent dignity. No, this isn't Gilbert-and-Sullivan nonsense, or a Hollywood film stunt, but the real thing, done with overwhelming solemnity.

We're fascinated somehow by those ghostly kisses. And if anything could drag us to the great ceremony, it would be to see those Peers of England, in all their operatic regalia, marching up and solemnly smacking their royal liege.

HONEST MAGICIANS

Magicians have a serious purpose in life these days, in addition to their delightful profession. The Society of American Magicians in this country and the Magic Circle in England are professional organizations giving much of their attention to preventing fraud. They expose tricks which are falsely labeled supernatural.

The late Houdini devoted much of his time to showing that he could do, by means of sleight of hand and other tricks, things which were being faked in the occult field. The British Magic Circle has a committee which goes about investigating "haunted" houses, spirit writing, and so on. The head of the organization says their work has proved that 90 percent of occult claims are fraudulent. As for the other 10 percent, this magician is cautious.

"There are," he says, "things which can't be explained." At any rate, they can't be explained by sleight-of-hand magic, and so he and his fellow magicians wisely let them alone.

THE COLD DUE TO ALLERGY

Sometimes you find yourself sneezing and coughing, with a "runny" nose and naturally you believe you have caught a cold and are in for a few days' misery. However in a very short time, hours at most, the sneezing, coughing, and stuffiness of the nose disappear, much to your surprise. The truth of the matter is that instead of having the usual "infectious" cold, due to the "cold" flu, or other organisms getting into the system, you really had an "allergic" cold in the head due to some substance you had breathed in from the air, or some substance you had eaten.

The usual or common cold in the head is due to overheated rooms, lack of ventilation, not enough moisture in the room, exposure to wet and cold, inhaling dust or irritating substances, infected tonsils, and adenoid growths. All these interfere with the mucous membrane of the nose so that it is unable to fight off the organisms that cause the cold. With the usual or common head cold there is a feeling of tiredness, chilliness, slight headache. The symptoms last from two or three days to several weeks.

However, in the "cold" due to allergy—sensitiveness to various substances—the history, the onset, the symptoms themselves are considerably different from those of the common cold.

Dr. Norman W. Celin, Seattle, Wash., in Northwest Medicine, says, "Frequent colds at any season or at special seasons of the year are often manifestations or symptoms of allergy. To diagnose (find out) that condition is allergic there must be an investigation of (a) a family history of allergy, (2) previous allergic history of the patient (asthma, hay fever, eczema, stomach and intestinal upsets) and (3) a present history of allergic symptoms. All foods, plants, substances handled in industry and other substances should be tested by the scratch method or injection into the skin. The most constant symptom of nasal or nose allergy is a "stuffy" nose which is always worse in the morning, chronic coughing occurring especially during the early morning hours is likewise a symptom."

I believe that these simple methods of learning the difference between the usual head cold due to infections, and colds due to allergy (sensitiveness to substances) will enable us to treat either type intelligently.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: It's a wild, stormy night at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's twin, when a strange figure, Jude, is shot to death on the bluff. Mike dedicates a shoulder hunting for the missing Skipper. His tall and tawny younger aunt who turns up with an alibi. Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed sweetheart, worries about him. Next day, stout and prudish Aunt Martha proposes that I lead our group in investigation of the murder, for we are marooned on this island. Part of my job is to find who bashed Cook's head with a flower pot and bound up Annie the maid.

Chapter 15 I Quiz The Aunts

SUDDENLY I rejected my original plan of allowing William to search the first floor while I searched the second. I was just embarking on the most trying experience of that week—the experience of suspecting even a person in the house. If there was an intruder inside, I reasoned, our search would be reduced to a simple game of hide-and-seek with the odds decidedly in favor of the hider.

And if William could not be counted on—for a moment I considered organizing the entire household into a searching party, but only for a moment. M. Farrington, Cook, Annie and Michael were in no condition to be relied upon. Mike seemed to have been in bed, and the other three showed signs of becoming problem cases on the least provocation. That left William, Higgins, the Skipper, Gay and myself. Five of us. Two of them women and one an old man.

If we were to go together, we were possibly turning the murderer loose to roam the house at will with the invalids unprotected. If we divided into parties of two and three we were just possible that the murderer was being sent off into the empty house alone with another unsuspecting victim. The risk was unthinkable. I am not defending my action. I am merely explaining how it seemed to me at the moment logical.

I stuffed the rope and Michael's handkerchief into my pocket. "William, I've changed my mind. I think I'll have a little talk with the rest before we go on with this." "Hell, sir, you can't do that! We can't go sitting around talking while some bloody devil—"

My grip on myself wasn't very good, and I was slipping with every uncertain minute. "I can do whatever I see fit," I said curdly. "Come on!" "All right, but I ain't in favor of it!" "So what?" I growled. But I did glance into the hall as we went down the very room as we went down the hall—my room and even the conservatory. They were all empty. If they hadn't been, perhaps I might have realized my mistake, but I was appallingly sure that the person I sought was at that moment conversing glibly in the library.

They all turned at the opening of the door—all except Michael who had been saying something. His doubled fist still rested on the desk and his face was very red. The atmosphere of the room as reflected on their faces was tense.

"You were saying, Mike?" I said. "For half a second he held the pose. Then, 'You're damned right I was saying that we'd better let bad enough alone.'"

"Michael," said the Skipper, "sit down and shut up. Now!" I doubt if her words would have had any effect, but she accompanied them with a forceful shove. Michael sat. I motioned to William to park himself somewhere.

"Have you found anything, James?" quavered M. Farrington. "Yes," I said to William's evident astonishment, "I've found all I was looking for. I'm going to ask questions, and if you aren't particularly enjoying this, I'd advise you to answer them as carefully as possible. Gay, get a pencil and paper and write down every word of it."

There was a pause. After a moment Gay walked to the desk and picked up a pencil.

Aunt Martha Holds Out

"AUNT MARTHA, I will begin with you. Your inviting us here at this time of year was unusual. This party was your idea?" "It was."

"Will you tell us why?" I was being cautious and I knew it without looking at Michael's black face. "Certainly, Barbara seemed unwell and depressed. As I wrote you, I thought she would be better for a little company. And I hoped that—that she might bring herself to confide in you or Michael more readily than myself."

M. Farrington's lips were a thin, straight line. In her eyes at that moment gleamed the light which usually presaged a laying low of the nearest available victim. But I went on.

"I told me that she thought the chimneys were in bad shape and that storm might make them dangerous. She didn't want to alarm anyone else."

"It was a feeble attempt, but I knew that a second question would be just so much wasted breath. That much was evident from the set of his chin. Behind me, Gay snorted indignantly. "All right," I said wearily. "How long did it take her to tell you that?" He was eyeing me cautiously—trying to anticipate my thoughts.

"About five minutes." (Copyright, 1937, Esther Tyler)

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Most authors keep a file of characters, miniature biographies of types observed about town. When they desire a "lift" in composition, it is no trick to run through the "morgue" and select just the type they need.

Here are some excerpts from Phil Stong's record-book, little, breezy, paragraph definitions and descriptions of Manhattan personalities:

"Sybil—tall willowy blonde. . . She insists that each new boy friend take her to the wrestling bouts, and then faints at the exhibition of brutality. Usually her boy friends are new. The old ones never come back."

"Doris—she is statuesque and moody. . . At parties she prefers to stare into space, thinking of absolutely nothing—which is no trick for her, she being vacuum minded."

"RITA—she's the flashy type—wanted to be a newspaper woman and shows her frustration. Favorite remark is 'How fantastic.' . . . If you tell her the sun is shining she immediately exclaims, 'Why, how fantastic!'"

"Pandra—before she became a dancer, or rather hooper, in the back row, she gave herself a complete education reading movie fan magazines. Knows every actor and actress, middle names included, who ever appeared in a film—but thinks Hoover is still President."

"Fern—muscular, outdoors type. A little too hearty, but can seat you at a hundred yards, and row a boat all day. . . Bubbling with enthusiasm. . . Never quarrelsome, but jests at her own tomboyishness. . . probably inhibited."

"JOAN—wiry little redhead. . . So full of exuberance she wants to skip instead of walk. . . Bounces around like a fox terrier. . . A chatterbox."

"Margie—a stenographer who is sadly miscast. . . Ought to be bustling around somebody's white cottage, making a home. . . Goes for simplicity and domesticity. . . Raven hair and dark, soft brown eyes. . . A pretty smile. . . Probably very romantic. . . Has lots of attention, but is still waiting for that certain prince charming to ride up on a moon-white charger and take command."

"An Elephant's Weight" By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WHILE Christopher Columbus Crow had been on his way with the note to the circus people, great deal had been happening in Puddle Muddle.

The little man, Willy Nilly, rather enjoyed having an elephant and a monkey and a donkey as guests, but he hoped their owners would soon come for them so he could get at his chores. His house needed a good cleaning, the outside needed painting, his garden required attention and there were a number of things for him to do. Besides, he knew that he must soon get to his pointed, sticking-out ears. Something must be done about them.

But while waiting for Christopher's return, the monkey proved entertaining, and the donkey could do tricks, and the elephant roaming around Puddle Muddle was an unusual and amusing sight.

Now, however, the time had come when Christopher should have returned and he was still absent. Willy Nilly was beginning to worry about his crow.

"I do hope he hasn't got into any mischief," thought Willy Nilly, and then he said to himself: "I must give up worrying. Things always turn out all right. Now I am safe in my house with my dear dog Rip by my side. My new guests are in the Empty House. My Puddle Muddle animal friends are in their various places and all is well."

"But what is that noise? I'm sure I heard something like thunder—or like an elephant falling downstairs. An elephant weighs so much."

"It's raining outside. It must have been thunder that I heard."

But it was the elephant's weight that had caused the noise.

A Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Being a Puerto Rican is not a grand experience at best but now President Roosevelt has taken a step promising to make life on the island even less sweet.

He has virtually ordered that English, not Spanish, shall be the official language of the island, and that is a very great step indeed.

Best information available here indicates the President was led to take the step while innocent of what it involved.

Puerto Rico is that sugar-coated island farther out to sea than Cuba which the United States acquired through the Spanish American war.

Optional

PUERTO RICANS spoke Spanish when they became Americans 38 years ago—and most of them still do, both as the official and freestyle tongue. But from time to time since the conquest, various American investigations have been conducted to decide the best way to teach them English.

Doubtless the quickest way would be to install English as the official language in the schools and require that arithmetic, geography, bacteriology and the like be taught in English. But the educational expeditions found that to teach the natives English in this way would make them very slow at learning arithmetic, geography, bacteriology and the like, which they now study in Spanish. So they suggested that English be made just one of the school subjects for Puerto Ricans to learn.

That course was followed by Jose Padin, for some years commissioner of education in the island. But in one of those recurrent political disturbances in the island, Padin became less popular here and there and a move was started to oust him.

Finger In Pie

OUT went Padin, and after a lapse of some time President Roosevelt appointed Jose M. Gallardo to succeed him. It was to Gallardo that the President sent the letter urging that English be taught as the official language to the end that the islanders should have "complete facility" in it.

Dr. Ernest H. Gruening, director of the bureau of territories and island possessions, was credited with framing the Presidential letter. Reputedly he has become less patient and is determined to apply the drastic hand.

OLD ULSTER DAYS

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Author of "Down the Vista of the Years," "A City is Born" and Other Stories and Historical Sketches.

CHAPTER 14 Old Days and New

Back in the colorful days when Broadway was unpaved and trolley cars were replacing the horse cars of the Gay Nineties the old Academy of Music stood on East O'Reilly street, on the opposite corner from the Central Fire Station. Those were the days of the traveling hypnotist and his troupe. Old readers will recall how the professor would put a woman to sleep and then she would be laid on a bed in a show window of one of the stores to slumber peacefully until the last day of the show when, with appropriate ceremonies, she would be brought, still asleep, to the stage of the theatre and awakened before the audience.

The old Academy in the heyday of its existence was an amusement resort that not only housed the "travellers' thrills" and the traveling hypnotist, but was the annual scene of the New Year's Eve party given by the Powell, Smith cigar-factory on Broadway to its employees. The factory employed between 1,800 and 2,000 men and women. Later it was taken over by the American Cigar Company which manufactured the Cremo and other well known brands of cigars, and is now known as the Brown Servicer, housing the bus terminal and several manufacturing concerns within its walls.

It has been years since a professor of hypnotism has visited the city to display his skill, but old timers recall with pleasure the days when he trod the boards of the old Academy of Music and called upon his audiences to send forth volunteers on which to display his skill.

The volunteers would be lined up on the stage in chairs and the professor would walk around the group and select his subjects and those he could not use would return to the audience while the subjects on the stage played all sorts of ridiculous parts.

One of the big features on the program would be hypnotizing a subject and then placing two chairs some distance apart resting the subject's neck on the top of the back of one chair and his feet on top of the other chair and then inviting several men from the audience to come up on the stage and stand on the subject's body. The hypnotized one's body would remain rigid even with several husky men standing on his body. Then another feature was the plunging of long darning needles into the arms and through the cheeks of the subject while the women in the audience would shudder and scream.

Following the war came years of prosperity and then the crash and the depression years. What a contrast these past 25 years have afforded. Older readers have lived to see the advent of the auto age and the talking. The radio has opened new fields of entertainment for the home, and it is only a question of a few years when television will be the disposal of the people.

As we look about us, even if the depression years have not rounded that much quoted corner, we realize that while the "good, old days" were delightful days still the "new days" are not to be despised either.

THE END.

Seventeen years of truck driving without an accident is the record claimed by A. C. Gray of Guthrie, Okla. His recipe: "Watch the other driver and stop if you are in doubt as to what he is going to do."

Mortgages With 'Teeth'

Form Book Store Mural

San Francisco (AP)—Fred Darvill owns more ancient indentures—pigskin mortgages and leases, serrated along the margins—than a loan shark in the days of Queen Elizabeth.

They form a mural in his law book store here, a store crammed with collections of autographs, bookplates, old legal briefs, stamps, etchings and color prints.

"Indentures were used by attorneys before the days of legal recording," Darvill explains. "When a document was written, two copies were made on a single sheet of pigskin. Seals were attached at the bottom and the copies separated by scoring an irregular course between the halves."

"Each party was given a copy. No creditor then could collect unless the indentations on his copy matched those of the debtor."

"Loan sharks in those days had 'teeth' on their mortgages, but the teeth had to be identical with those of the victim."

Darvill has more than a thousand of these documents, all hand-written, many hand-illustrated. Some date back to 1333. The collection is believed by Darvill the only one of its kind.

Pikes Peak Devied Own Coins and Paper Money

At the time the nation was electrified by Pike's Peak gold rush the country around the present site of Denver was a part of Kansas. In 1858 and 1859 hundreds of covered wagon trains entered the district and Denver grew up almost overnight to the status of a large city, relates a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Clark, Gruber & Company, John Parsons & Company and J. J. Conway & Company, bankers of the city, issued their own gold coins of $2, $5, $10 and $20 denominations which were exchanged for the loose gold brought in by miners. Paper money was also used by Clark, Gruber & Company.

The obverse of one of these notes was inscribed in large letters across the top "Pike's Peak Gold," and had the denomination, "5 Dollars" in each of the lower corners. The reverse side bore in addition to the banker's name, the words "Territory of Jefferson, Denver, 1860," making this note one of the few mementoes of any kind of an interesting episode in Colorado history.

As the Pike's Peak region was without protection from Kansas or the federal government, the leading men of the district in 1859 called a convention out of which grew the Territory of Jefferson. A legislature and governor were elected, laws passed, defense of the territory was provided for, neutrality in the impending struggle between the North and South declared and a commission sent to Washington to apply for recognition as a new territory. The authorities in Washington, however, were too busy with other affairs to pay much attention to the "Pikes Peakers," and, when they did finally take up the question, organized the district into the Territory of Colorado.

A white leghorn hen, owned by a Marysville, Kas., farmer, recently laid an egg with the numeral "12" plainly inscribed on the shell.

Lightning Rod Idea Has

Proved Franklin's Theory

Ben Franklin worked out the lightning rod idea on Nov. 7, 1749. Up to perhaps about a half century ago the installation of lightning rods was as much a part of the standard equipment of buildings as the very shingles on the roof. But, about that time, two things happened.

First of these was the lightning rod salesman, perhaps the first advocate of the idea of high pressure salesmanship. Gangs of them toured the country selling cheap and practically worthless sets of lightning rods which, in many cases, were more of a menace than a protection. Their work had the important result of convincing folks that lightning rods were not only useless but dangerous.

The second development was the growth of modern cities. Filling the streets with wires and houses with gas pipes, water pipes and electrical circuits and also crowding street after street, section after section of city and town with buildings—the very existence of modern construction practically did away with the menace of lightning, for wires and pipes are reasonably good lightning "rods," and the congestion of buildings also serves much the same end. Actually a city is very nearly proof against lightning. Thus, lightning rods became unnecessary in thickly populated sections.

However, outside of congested areas, liberally networked by electric wires, the peril of lightning is as grave, and exposed buildings, even in large towns, and particularly farm buildings on hilltops and hillsides, are protected in some way.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Railroad Traffic Continues to Expand

Little relation to the state of trade and industry is seen in the unrelenting last week, both in this country and abroad, in the securities market and some commodity prices. Steel production remained close to record volume, although the reappearance of flood conditions in the Ohio Valley had some effect. Building contract award still showed gain, especially in private and commercial construction. There was an advance in the output of lumber, electric power consumption maintained its lead over a year ago, textile mills continued active against accumulated orders.

At present the railroads are in the limelight, with traffic continuing to expand, further expansion in dividends forecast for this year and several of the roads contemplating large purchases of rolling stock. Despite the fact that over 60,000 freight cars are now under construction in the United States, a shortage looms in the fall when carloadings will naturally reach their peak.

The actions of commodity markets the past week is seen as indicating that the collapse of over-extended long positions in grain, rubber, copper, tin and in some degree cotton was far more widespread than had been suggested.

While lower prices for raw materials and foodstuffs may check the rising tendency in the price of finished goods that is not expected to interrupt the advance in labor costs, nor to lower them.

Monetary influences still remain on the side of higher prices. While it appears true that the administration is making a real effort to end deficit financing, the treasury is still borrowing money to peg the price of gold against the world's selling and the federal reserve continues to buy to preserve an "orderly market" in government obligations. The devalued dollar continues to attract gold here although foreign trade for the past three months showed a considerable import balance.

Gold purchases do not appear as treasury expenditures; the gold goes directly into the treasury general fund, where it is labeled "inactive." Following the liquidation, early in the week, which depressed the stock market, there was a rally that made up a good portion of the lost ground. Cotton and grain closed the week not far from where they opened it.

Pittsburgh steel operations are scheduled to start the week at 94.5 per cent of capacity, up half a point. Youngstown operations will drop four points, to 83 per cent.

The labor department reported that more than 34,000,000 persons were employed in non-agricultural industries in the U. S. in March—a rise of more than 3,000,000 from the depression low in March, 1933.

HEARINGS MAY BRING REDUCED RELIEF FUND

Washington, May 3 (AP).—The start of House hearings on a relief-fund bill brought talk today of cutting one-third from the $1,500,000,000 recommended by President Roosevelt for 1938 relief spending.

Rep. Woodrum (D-Va.), acting chairman of the subcommittee holding the hearings, said he believed Congress' present economy mood might result in such a cut. There was no prospect, however, of early action, Speaker Bankhead expressed the belief a final decision would be held in abeyance until the President returns from his fishing trip.

Relief spending has caused the bulk of the federal deficits. This year's spending has been at a rate indicating the total will be nearly $2,000,000,000.

FINED $5 FOR LEAVING SCENE OF AN ACCIDENT

Samuel DiMuccio of 21 Derrenbacher street was arrested Sunday night by Trooper Dunn on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. He was arraigned the same night before Justice Lester S. Davis of West Shokan, who fined him $5.

Trooper Dunn says that DiMuccio backed into a driveway at West Shokan and struck a car which was parked there, refusing to stop after the accident.

Smith Boy Injured

The three-year-old son of Justice and Mrs. Ernest Smith of Phoenixia was rendered unconscious Sunday night when he fell while climbing on some wood piled in the yard. His parents were worried about the head injury he suffered, but relaxed this morning when the physician announced an improvement and that there probably would be no serious effects.

New York, May 3 (AP)—Selected stocks logged steadily into moderately higher territory today, but many market leaders were virtually at a standstill.

In one of the slowest sessions of the year, favored steels, oils, rails, aircrafts and specialties posted gains of fractions to 2 points at the best. There were a number of losers near the final hour in dealings which were at the rate of less than 700,000 shares for the day.

Stocks in the popular column most of the session included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Standard Oil of N. J. and Indiana, Continental Oil, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, International Nickel, American Smelting, American Locomotive, U. S. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Committal services at the grave were in charge of the Rev. Mr. Goertz. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Albany, N. Y., May 3 (AP).—Romances that bloom at midnight and culminate in marriages before dawn will be a thing of the past in New York state after September 1. On that date a bill signed by Governor Lehman over the week-end requiring the lapse of 72 hours between issuance of a marriage license and performance of the wedding ceremony will become effective. The bill, sponsored by Assemblyman Jane Todd, Westchester county Republican, was designed as a "protection" for swains who do their proposing over the tables of New York city night clubs.

Parker's Statement

Newark, N. J., May 3 (AP).—The government attributed to Ellis H. Parker in his Wendell kidnap conspiracy trial today the statement that "the capture of the Lindbergh kidnaper" by him "might give me J. Edgar Hoover's job and make Governor Hoffman vice president of the United States." United States Attorney John J. Quinn told the jury the statement was made by Parker, chief of Burlington county detectives, to one of the three Brooklyn men accused of conspiring with him to kidnap and torture Paul H. Wendel into making a false confession to the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Embargo on Aid

Washington, May 3 (AP).—State department officials worked today on regulations further limiting possible aid from groups in this country to the Spanish civil war belligerents. The regulations, to be announced in the near future, will deal with soliciting funds. They are being prepared under the new neutrality law, signed Saturday night by President Roosevelt. Immediately after the act was signed, other provisions tightening laws against trade with Spain were invoked.

10 Plead Not Guilty

Syracuse, N. Y., May 3 (AP).—Ten men suspected of complicity in the 1933 kidnaping of John J. O'Connell, Jr., of Albany, pleaded not guilty today in federal district court to charges of kidnaping and extortion. Federal Judge Frederick H. Bryant immediately set June 2 and Binghamton as the place and date for the trial.

Marked Setback

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, May 3 (AP).—Pope Pius has suffered a marked setback from the period of convalescence after his winter illness, prelates said today. The pontiff was too tired to grant audiences today and rested in the apartment of his summer residence here, receiving his secretary briefly for a few reports.

10 Seamen Drowned

Flushing, The Netherlands, May 3 (AP).—Captain Thomas Austin and nine members of the crew of the British steamship Alcyon were drowned when their ship was rammed and sunk by the Yugoslav freighter Flavaik yesterday, advices here said today.

John Windholz of Emmenmann, Kas., who recently celebrated his 82nd birthday, boasts 96 living descendants.

HE WHO LAUGHS... LASTS!

During the dark days of the Civil War when boys from both sides were dying by the thousands on the battlefield, Abraham Lincoln took time to begin his cabinet meetings by reading a few passages from a recent book by Artemus Ward, one of the leading humorists at that time. One of the cabinet members reproached the great man, asking: "Mr. Lincoln, how can you laugh at such a time?" Lincoln replied: "If I could not laugh my heart would break."

Laughter is a wonderful gift. It is a safety valve by which we can escape for a time the seriousness of life. Life is so full of stark tragedy. There is so much pain and sorrow. It is fine that the Creator has given us laughter.

And most blessed of all, perhaps, is the man who can laugh at himself. The man with a sense of humor. Humor is a shock absorber that eases the blows of life. We all make our share of mistakes. It is best not to take ourselves or our work too seriously. It is a good thing to stand off and laugh at our selves now and then.

He who laughs... lasts!

Spring Showers

Fall gently, rain, upon our sleeping earth.

That latent things may know another birth.

Touch with warm fingers slumbering bud and blade,

Clothe with soft greenness every woodland glade.

Fall gently on bare fields and meadows flat,

But, for the love of Mike, don't touch my new spring hat!

Read It Or Not

In the town of Louisa, Virginia, (population 201), there are 53 widows and 39 maiden ladies.

Nervous Young Man—What do I have to pay for a marriage license? Clerk (without a smile)—Two dollars down, and your entire salary each week for the rest of your life.

If tempted to bear a grudge, remember it is likely to constitute a very heavy load to carry.

Actor (modestly)—As a matter of fact, I have received letters from ladies in almost every place in which I have appeared.

Manager—Landladies?

We call people "queer" who are different from the rest of us, and sometimes do not think that that might be a compliment.

Railroad Engineer—Yes, I built this radio set all myself, Samuel. Samuel—I believe it; she whistles for every station.

The average woman has few "speaking acquaintances" because most of them are listening ones.

An English cub reporter, frequently reprimanded for relating too many details and warned to be brief, turned in the following: "A shooting affair occurred last night. Sir Dwight Hopeless, a guest at Lady Pannmore's ball, complained of feeling ill, took a highball, his hat, his coat, his departure, no notice of his friends, a taxi, a pistol from his pocket and finally his life. Nice chap. Regrets and all that sort of thing."

The cookbook is another volume that is brimful of stirring passages.

Friend—Your vacation seems to have made a new man of you. Where did you go? Man—We just stayed at home and rested.

The girls admit they don't know much about this "mandate" business now being talked about, except that they should be tall, dark and handsome.

Mrs. John, am I still the light of your life? Mr.—Quit your kidding. I just paid $9 electric light bill this morning.

The most popular boy in school usually is the one who has a lot of nicknames.

The western pine beetle destroys more merchantable timber than forest fires.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Marked Woman." Based on the history of one of New York's most slimy racketeers, this bold, hard hitting story tells of the clip joint business and of the girls who earn their living in that manner. But the plot centers around one girl especially, a girl who is sending her younger sister through school, and who is doing her best to get along pleasantly with the boss of the racket. But when her sister is found slain the girl goes to work and exposes the whole reeking setup. The play is grim and crusading in spirit, the dialogue is crisp and dramatic and Bette Davis, returning to the screen after a successful publicity vacation in England, is brilliant as the girl who tells all for the sake of others. Humphrey Bogart, Eduardo Ciannelli, Lola Lane, Isabel Jewell, Mayo Methot, Allen Jenkins, Jane Bryan and Rosalind Marquis are featured in a strong cast. A Warner Brothers picture directed by Lloyd Bacon.

Kingston: "Seventh Heaven." The story of two guttier walls of Paris is told with all the sentimentality and brilliance that made it such a commanding hit in the silent picture days and James Stewart rises to the top of the dramatic ladder in his portrayal of the boy in the story and his performance stamps him as one of the most talented of the Hollywood players. Simone Simon is also effective but her work is lacking in the sheer skill of Stewart's characterization. Henry King directed this love idyll with a sensitive appreciation and a fine cast includes Jean Hersholt, John Qualen, Mady Christians, Gregory Ratoff and Gale Sondergaard. A 20th Century Fox presentation.

Orpheum: "Stolen Holiday" and "Easy To Take." Ray Francis, the screen's greatest sufferer, continues to have a hard time of it in this tale of a woman who made a bad mistake in the past and whose present is always filled with the dread that the past will sometime show itself. Claude Rains and Ian Hunter are in the supporting cast. "Easy To Take" is the other feature, a satire on radio that is laughable and entertaining. Marsha Hunt, John Howard, Jan Duggan and Eugene Pallette head the players.

Tomorrow
Kingston: "Racketeers in Exile" and "Let's Get Married." Two average features is the kind way of explaining the Kingston program, the first a story of some unemployed racketeers and how they get along despite the depression in their business. George Bancroft, Wynne Gibson and Evelyn Venable are featured. "Let's Get Married" is the other one, a comedy with a self explanatory title.

Legion Auxiliary Regular Meeting

The Ulster county organization of the American Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting Thursday evening, April 29, at Mechanics Hall in Saugerties. Mrs. Harry Whitney of Kingston presided in place of Mrs. George Benson of Ellenville, who is ill.

Committee-women from various units throughout the county read reports of work done in child welfare, rehabilitation, national defense, legislation and affiliated activities. Mrs. Whitney reported a paid-up membership of 289 to date. A detailed account was given of Ulster county's participation in the visit of the third district auxiliary women to Castle Point Hospital on April 24. The third district provided each of the 168 bed patients with a package containing cigarettes and hard candy, also a packet of homemade cookies for each of the 453 patients in the hospital. Members and friends of Kingston Unit made 53 dozen cookies and these were distributed among the 33 patients of Ward D-3 which Kingston unit recently adopted; also four cartons of cigarettes and a large quantity of magazines. Every patient was deeply appreciative. They displayed handicraft taught by occupational therapy that was intricate and beautiful. One disabled veteran makes and offers for sale afghans, lovely in design and workmanship. A very satisfactory report relative to legislation was submitted by Mrs. Herman DuBois, chairman.

Comrade Harry Williams of Westchester county was introduced to the Legion and Auxiliary meetings, respectively, and offered himself as candidate for the office of department commander. Comrade Williams has served the Legion as past commander, adjutant, county commander and district commander, and now asks consideration for his candidacy as commander of New York state.

Mrs. Margaret Morris of New Paltz was appointed to represent the American Legion Auxiliary at the meeting to plan the syphilis institute, at the county building on John street, Friday evening. Following the business session, refreshments were served by the ladies of Lamoureux-Hackett unit and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Poughkeepsie Girl Held for Blackmail

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—Margaret Shafer, 23, former employee of the Smith Bros. Cough Drop Company, faced arraignment today on a blackmail charge which Detective Joseph Shelly said was brought in connection with threatening letters mailed to an executive of the concern.

Shelly said the girl has admitted that she sent letters to J. Stuart Bates, vice president, threatening to "post a notice on your church door." Bates turned the letters over to police when the most recent one demanded that $500 be left at the end of Woodland avenue, "unless you wish another notice to go up," the police said.

Police looked over all the church doors of the city and reported they could find no "notice."

In the law, ignorance is no excuse, and it would be a fine thing if that same principle were extended to cover the harboring of fire hazards. Each year, loss running into the millions results from improper storage of inflammable liquids, from needless accumulations of waste, from amateur tampering with electric fixtures, from carelessness with smoking materials. Such "little" things as these are responsible for a majority of all fires.

'Baby Bonus' Is Only 1st Step In Helping Needy Mothers

By SIGRID ARNE

(AP Feature Service Writer)

Washington—For all the chatter taxpayers hear about care of needy mothers and infants, two big defects still appear in all state programs for maternity aid.

There have been—and are—many programs on law-books for "maternity and infancy care." But on the authority of Dr. Martha Eliot, of the federal children's bureau, none of the plans provide money for the mother at the actual delivery of the child, and then, there aren't enough trained obstetricians to go around.

New York Leads Way

New York, where the lower house of the legislature has just voted to give $75 worth of medical care to every mother in the state at child birth, seems to be leading the way.

The New York plan tackles the first problem. But the children's bureau would like to see both problems met through the social security act.

New York's plan is no "baby bonus," a la Mr. Mussolini. It simply would provide $75 for doctors, nurses and hospitals at the birth of a child. It is intended to help only needy mothers, who would have to appear for examination during the first three months of pregnancy.

Security Division Helps Some

In 1934 73,841 babies died in the United States during their first month of life. And 12,859 mothers died in childbirth. That's a high rate compared to other civilized countries. Too high, says Dr. Eliot.

It has been attacked by the maternity division of the social security act in the past 15 months. The division pays out $3,800,000 each year to states that match the funds in maternity health programs. But these funds also avoid the major issue. They don't pay for the actual arrival of the child. They merely provide for examinations and advice before and after. The advice is expected to cut down the death rates.

A BREAK FOR BABY

Needy mothers and babies have a friend in the federal children's bureau which is seeking to improve their lot through the Social Security Act.

But where does the mother go who can't afford a doctor at the crisis, asks Dr. Eliot, and answers: "She gets such help as she can from relief organizations."

Seek National Aid

To make matters worse plenty of women who could afford a doctor have to take the help of a medico that never had complete training in obstetrics.

So the children's bureau would like to go farther than New York state, and on a national scale. The bureau has just had a conference of child welfare experts who recommended that more money be spent through the social security act's maternity division to do two things:

1—Provide medical care for needy mothers at the actual delivery.

2—Give doctors and nurses post-graduate courses in obstetrics.

New Paltz News

New Paltz, May 3—Since there is a third student of the seniors at the high school which has made the high average, Miss Rosalind Conard of the English department has suggested there be a class essayist. Since Roger Juckett, whose average of 89.9 per cent made him valedictorian, and Doris Nickerson, whose average of 89.7 per cent made her the salutatorian, and since Helena Minard's average was 89.3 per cent, the senior class will ask her to be the third class speaker at commencement, as essayist.

How much do YOU think these groceries cost? Study the picture and then write your answer in the blank space above.

CORN flakes, crackers, pickles and corn.
Bread, cabbage, bananas and grapefruit. And probably a pound of new potatoes already in the bag. An average bunch of groceries. What do you think they should come to? What should you pay for them? Try a guess. The chances are you will be wrong!

Your estimate will be at least 10% too high . . . unless you've been in the habit of doing your food shopping through the ads in The Daily Freeman. Which means simply this! If you are not a Daily Freeman ad-shopper you have been spending too much. Actually paying too much to live!
Or, to put it another way, if you do read the Daily Freeman food ads regularly before you buy you are getting a dollar's worth of groceries for about ninety cents! And remember, this is figuring your average savings over a long period of time. Individual savings on single purchases may and do run much higher.

Item for item, prices on standard-quality foods offered by Daily Freeman advertisers are always lower than the prices asked for the same foods in less progressive stores. This is no guess . . . no wild statement . . . no hokum . . . it has been proved and attested to many times by shoppers themselves—hundreds of them; They know it pays to read the ads.

But buying for less money is only half the story. You get better food for that money by shopping the ads. You are sure of fresher goods, higher quality. Most merchants know it doesn't pay to advertise an inferior article. It's too dangerous, it ruins good-will and hurts business.

Shop through The Daily Freeman ads every day! It pays your merchant to run them. It will pay you even more to read them.

Coronation Leg Show Old Stuff To Yankees

By JOHN J. KELLY

(AP Feature Service Writer)

New York—The knee breeches issue confronting Americans at the coronation of King George VI is no issue at all to Frederick A. Gray, chairman of the style committee of the Merchant Tailors' association.

"Wear knee breeches? Why, of course our representatives should wear them," he says.

"You'd think the men of this country had something wrong with their legs. As a matter of fact, their legs are every bit as good for knee breeches and silk hose as those of their British friends—better in most cases."

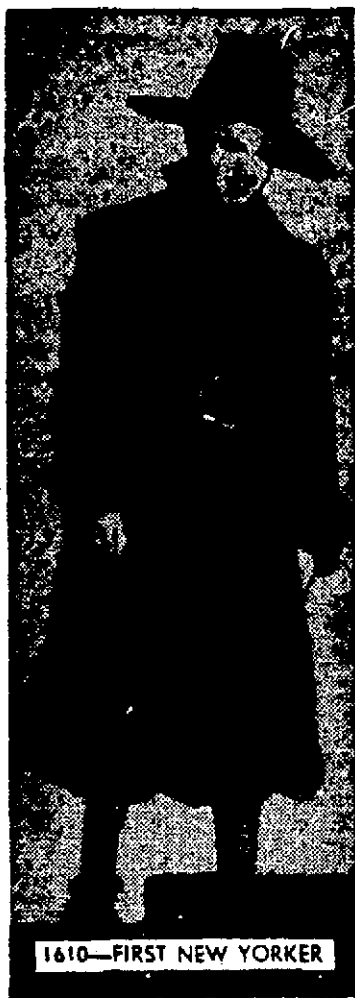

To him dressing is a point of conduct. He says that anyone who attends the crowning of a king in homespun is "misbehaving."

"You may be certain," says Gray, "that men of the type of Mr. Gerard (official U. S. representative to the coronation) and Mr. Bingham (U. S. ambassador to England) can be counted on to do the right thing because they are gentlemen and gentlemen dress suitably that they and others may feel at ease."

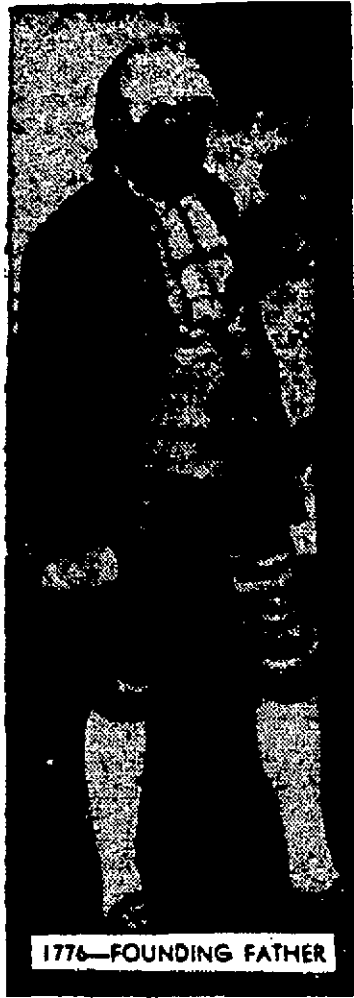

Gray, who learned the art of cutting in London, is convinced after 30 years in New York that American men suffer from a mistaken sense of democracy. They are afraid they'll look ridiculous, he believes.

Would he advocate a change in the coronation dress?

"Not one tiny bit. The costume is perfect; it's elegant and comfortable and any man not actually deformed would look well in it."

ings this morning at the behest of the Labor Ministry, could not report before Thursday or Friday at the earliest.

Busmen of the government-controlled system struck when demands for a seven and one-half hour working day and slower bus schedules were refused by the London Transport Board.

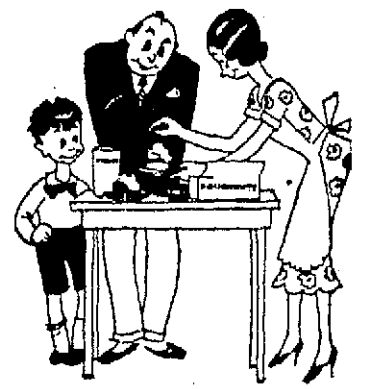

Already London thoroughfares are beginning to teem with coronation visitors and an additional flood is expected in the next few days to further tangle the transportation problem.

Though coronation grandstand prices have aroused some criticism, the practice of charging for a view of the procession dates back several centuries. Modern prices are higher, however.

In the time of Queen Elizabeth, subjects paid sixpence to view the procession.

When George IV was crowned, $25 was the top price, and by 1911, when George V ascended the throne, $25 was still considered a luxury price.

But for vantage points for the procession of George VI, spectators are paying $250 and more.

Mrs. Simpson Granted Divorce

house. In exactly 17 minutes she told Justice Sir John Anthony Hawke, who obviously found his task distasteful, a quick story of finding that her husband was unfaithful.

"All right, a decree nisi," said the justice with a shrug. That meant a wait of six months before an absolute divorce could be obtained.

London papers reported the case briefly, not mentioning the king's name, but the storm was soon to break.

Big London dailies soon splurged the news that a constitutional crisis was at hand, since the king wanted to marry a twice-divorced woman against the advice of his ministers. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and Edward VIII were closeted in lengthy conferences.

World Watches

For about 10 days the world watched breathlessly while the king parried for time. Then he decided upon abdication.

Meanwhile Mrs. Simpson had left England secretly one dark night, pursuing a zig-zag course to the villa of a friend at Cannes, on the French Riviera. She issued a statement offering to give up the king, but Edward persisted in renouncing his empire.

After a fervent radio farewell, the former monarch slipped across France to a friend's castle in Austria. Since then he has not seen his bride-to-be.

Back in London, one of the world's most famous forgotten men, Ernest Simpson, walked to work each morning unnoticed by hurrying crowds, but gossip continued on a thousand sides. Simpson filed a writ of slander against Mrs. Joan Sutherland. The case was expected to be heard after the coronation.

Another figure in the sensational story was elderly Francis Stephenson, a lawyer's clerk, who, as a citizen, intervened in the divorce suit. But he withdrew his petition March 19, after a brief burst of temper, and said his heart had been softened by Edward's farewell speech.

Can't Forget Edward

England has tried hard to forget Edward. The coronation preparations have helped some, but something always happens to freshen memories of the former Prince of Wales.

The latest was his suit for libel against Geoffrey Dennis and the publishers of the book "Coronation Commentary" for remarks about Mrs. Simpson.

And it seems a certainty that many of Englishmen's thoughts will dwell on Edward May 12 when the guns of the Tower of London boom out for the Coronation of George VI.

Edward Rushes Off

St. Wolfgang, Austria, May 3 (AP)—Edward of Windsor announced this noon he was leaving today for the French Touraine, where Wallis Simpson, now free to marry him, is waiting.

The former King of England made the announcement through his adjutant.

His destination, he said, is Tours, near the Chateau de Candé where Mrs. Simpson is staying.

At his remodeled boarding house, Appesbach, the Duke learned late this morning that a London divorce court had freed Mrs. Simpson absolutely from Ernest Aldrich Simpson, her second husband. The announcement of his decision to depart followed.

The Duke arranged to take the Arlberg express at 4 p. m. (10 a. m., Eastern Standard Time).

Abandons Excursion

Edward heard of the issuance of the London decree just as he was getting into his mountain-climbing togs for a short excursion into the hills.

He hung them aside and made immediate arrangements to go to France. All his affairs here were in shape that he could.

There was no great excitement at Appesbach, for everyone knew what would happen. But the Duke hovered eagerly over the telephone, receiving several calls from London and Paris. Then he dispatched a telegram to President Miklas thanking Austria and its citizens for making his self-enforced exile a pleasant one.

Prelates Who Crown The King

PRIMATE OF ALL ENGLAND
The Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Lord High Almoner to the King and Archbishop of Canterbury, will perform the actual coronation for the first time.

ARCHBISHOP OF YORK
Second in rank in the spiritual ceremonies is this roly-poly prelate. He receives $45,000 a year, a salary $30,000 less than that of his superior.

DEAN OF WESTMINSTER
The Very Rev. W. Foxley Norris will have little to do but invest George VI with his imperial mantle. The dean is a frequent visitor to the United States.

BISHOP OF LONDON
Ordinarily there would be a sermon by Dr. Winnington Ingram. This year there will be none. But the ceremony still calls for the Bishop's presence.

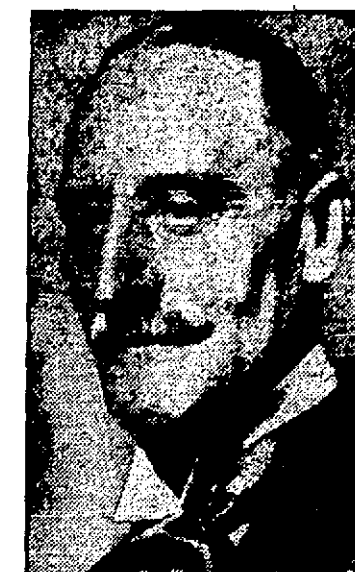

The Lords Of The Coronation

DUKE OF GLOUCESTER
Only member of the royal family besides the King and Queen to take part in the coronation at Westminster. Abbey May 12, he leads the peers' homage.

EARL MARSHAL
The Duke of Norfolk, 28, premier peer, orders all ceremonial, issues decrees for the Church of England coronation rites though a Roman Catholic.

LORD GREAT CHAMBERLAIN
The Handsome Earl of Ancaster, traditionally entitled to claim the royal highchair and the king's bedroom furniture, will settle for $1,000 instead.

DUKE OF BEAUFORT
The Master of the Horse will be right at home on a charger directly behind the royal carriage. The duke is, by marriage, a nephew of Queen Mary.

The King-Makers

PRIME MINISTER
Although he is responsible for the accession of the king and queen, Baldwin the king-maker must take a back seat at the coronation ceremonies, as befits a commoner.

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE
Capt. Edward Algernon Fitzroy, who announced Edward's abdication to the House, will represent Mr. Baldwin and his fellow commoners of the Cabinet and Parliament.

Ladies Of The Queen

MISTRESS OF ROBES
Few women will have active roles in the ceremony. The Duchess of Northumberland, most important of them, will attend the queen, lead the ladies in waiting.

DUCHESS OF NORFOLK
Less important in the Westminster spectacle than her husband, the duchess's duties are to support the canopy over the queen and to hold her scepter.

K.H.S. Trackmen Take Two Firsts, Lose to Poughkeepsie by 53 to 33

Australian Netmen Defeat Mexicans

Mexico City, May 3 (AP).—Australia's Davis Cup team headed by New York and the North American zone final with victory over Mexico five matches to none, tucked away in their satchels today.

In winning four singles and one doubles contests here, the impressive four-man aggregation from down under—Jack Crawford, Vivian McGrath, Adrian Quist, and youthful John Bromwich—lost only one set.

Ricardo Tapia, Mexico's national champion and No. 1, took that from Quist in yesterday's concluding singles event which the Australian won, 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Earlier the ambidextrous Bromwich rated at 18 as one of the coming greats of the net game, got his first taste of international competition as he turned back Esteban Reyes, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.

Bromwich substituted for McGrath, who beat Tapia in straight sets Friday, and played convincing tennis, although Reyes pressed him in the last set. Especially effective were the Australian's two-handed forehand shots.

Not discounting the quality of competition the United States team, which defeated Japan, 5-0, would offer at Forest Hills, N. Y., May 29-31, the Aussies nevertheless seemed quietly confident this was their year.

Captain Clifford Sproule, jubilant at their display here, planned to put the quarter to work immediately adapting their game to grass. He thought two weeks would be quite enough for that. Sproule's singles choices, he said, will depend entirely on the form the players show in workouts.

Rifle Club Protests Rogers' Bill Asking Arms Registration

President Theodore Haines, of the Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club today informed the press that the local organization, urged by the National Rifle Association of America, would protest against State Senator Rogers' bill affecting owners of rifles.

The bill introduced in the state Senate on April 14 provides for the addition to the penal law a new section providing that any person, "who owns, uses, carries or has in his possession a rifle, shotgun, air gun, spring gun or other weapon in which the propelling force is a spring or air or explosives" shall register it with the sheriff of his county.

Failure to register would constitute a misdemeanor, if the bill goes through.

The bill also provides that "upon the sale or transfer of any of the weapons named, the buyer shall immediately re-register the weapon with the sheriff of the county in which he resides and that the sheriff shall charge a fee of 25 cents for registration and 10 cents for each re-registration."

A registration book would be kept at the county jails, showing the name of the person registered, the date of registration and the various facts concerning the arm registered.

This bill is in the hands of the committee on codes at Albany, and the rifle clubs are making a strong effort to kill it. Members of the Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club are urged by their president to communicate with Senator A. H. Wicks, asking that he oppose the bill.

The Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club meets once a week and holds a shoot in the municipal auditorium, practicing on the old firing range used by Company M, when that military unit was part of the state militia.

Recently the club visited Catskill, and following are the results of the shoot.

After the shoot refreshments were served by the Catskill club. There will be a return match held on the Kingston club's range in the municipal auditorium on Thursday evening, May 6, at 7:30.

Church Softball Begins Tonight

The Church Softball League will get under way tonight with the Comforters meeting Trinity Lutheran at Forsyth Park and the Fair street tossers colliding with Clinton avenue at the Armory diamond.

Tonight's schedule gives the three league leaders of last year, Fair Street, Clinton Avenue and Comforters, a chance to show what they might accomplish this season.

Both games are scheduled to start at 6:30 o'clock.

Tuesday evening Hurley will meet the Albany Avenue squad at Forsyth Park, and the First Presbyterian and the Redeemers will clash at the Armory.

United States exports to Latin American countries have increased more rapidly than exports to Europe in recent months.

Rough and Ready Red

—By Pap

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Maybe Jack Doyle wasn't so far wrong at that.

As the Broadway "commissioner" who will take any kind of a bet on the pennant races, Jack recently cut the odds on the Pittsburgh Pirates and Detroit Tigers to 3 to 1 each. At first the folks couldn't see the reason for it, with such competition as the Cardinals, Giants and Cubs in one loop, and the Yankees in the other.

But Jack isn't taking any chances where the family baseball is concerned. And the fact that the Bucs and the Beggars are in first place in their respective leagues today prove it.

Although the first two weeks of the season are about as conclusive as a one-run lead in the fifth, the tip is definitely out—don't sell the Bucs and Tigers short.

Boostered by their best pitching staff in years, the odds on the Pirates have dropped all the way from 8 to 1. With Joe Rowman, recent acquisition from the Phillies, making his starting debut as a Pittsburgher, the Bucs rode into the National League lead yesterday on a 7-2 win over the Roughhouse Reds from Cincinnati. St. Louis' Gas House gang couldn't do a thing against Bill Lee's three-hit pitching, and dropped out of first with a 4-1 defeat at the hands of the Cubs.

Although victorious, the Cubs increased their hospital list when Billy Herman went out for several days with a finger injury, joining Pitchers Tex Carleton, Larry French and Curt Davis, and Catcher Gabby Hartnett, all drydocked for repairs.

Home for Gehrig

Lou Gehrig finally found the range and produced Homer No. 1, but the Yankees, generally, still were in their run-making slump and went down 5-4 before the Red Sox, thereby losing the American League race of Mickey Cochrane and his heavy hitting Detroit. Gerry Walker again was the big noise, belting a seventh-inning homer for the winning Detroit run to wallop the White Sox 6-5.

In addition to Lee's three hit for the Cards, two other fine fling performances featured the National League problem. Van Lingle Mungo had his first big night and stopped the Phillies with three hits and nine strikeouts, as the Dodgers put on a five-run spree in the eighth for a 5-1 victory. Cliff Melton, south-paw rookie hope of the New York Giants, also whiffed nine and finished on top with a four-hit 3-1 win over the Boston Bees.

Perhaps the most surprising result of the day was that turned in by the Senators over the Athletics. Shortly before announcing the release of Catcher Shanty (Fat Man) Hogan to Indianapolis, Washington won its first victory in five starts against Connie Mack's youngsters, but the Nats had to put on a five-run rally in the ninth before finally doing it, 10-7. Cleveland's battle with the St. Louis Browns was rained out.

MAYONE A. C. SWAMPS TROOP TEN 28 TO 8

Sunday afternoon behind the high school the Mayone A. C. defeated the Scouts from Troop 10 by the one-sided count of 28 to 8. Ed Allen was on the mound for the winners and yielded eight hits, while R. Van Buren gave the winners 17 hits. Lou Sapp and Ed Sotillo did the best hitting for the winners with five out of six and three out of four in the order named.

Washington, May 3 (AP).—Big Shanty Hogan, the fat man of baseball, lugged his 232 pounds back to the minors today and took his major league comeback with him.

His place behind the bat for the Washington club will be taken by John L. Riddle, 30-year-old veteran from the Indianapolis team of the American Association.

The Indians will get an undisciplined amount of cash in addition to Hotan.

"Shanty was in great shape," said Griffith, "but we need a faster, more agile man."

Riddle brings a .325 batting average into the majors, compiled in 115 games last year. He drove in 72 runs and made 147 hits, of which 21 were doubles, four triples and five home runs.

Standing of Clubs in Major Leagues

(By The Associated Press.)

Maybe Jack Doyle wasn't so far wrong at that.

As the Broadway "commissioner" who will take any kind of a bet on the pennant races, Jack recently cut the odds on the Pittsburgh Pirates and Detroit Tigers to 3 to 1 each. At first the folks couldn't see the reason for it, with such competition as the Cardinals, Giants and Cubs in one loop, and the Yankees in the other.

But Jack isn't taking any chances where the family baseball is concerned. And the fact that the Bucs and the Beggars are in first place in their respective leagues today prove it.

Although the first two weeks of the season are about as conclusive as a one-run lead in the fifth, the tip is definitely out—don't sell the Bucs and Tigers short.

Boostered by their best pitching staff in years, the odds on the Pirates have dropped all the way from 8 to 1. With Joe Rowman, recent acquisition from the Phillies, making his starting debut as a Pittsburgher, the Bucs rode into the National League lead yesterday on a 7-2 win over the Roughhouse Reds from Cincinnati. St. Louis' Gas House gang couldn't do a thing against Bill Lee's three-hit pitching, and dropped out of first with a 4-1 defeat at the hands of the Cubs.

Although victorious, the Cubs increased their hospital list when Billy Herman went out for several days with a finger injury, joining Pitchers Tex Carleton, Larry French and Curt Davis, and Catcher Gabby Hartnett, all drydocked for repairs.

Home for Gehrig

Lou Gehrig finally found the range and produced Homer No. 1, but the Yankees, generally, still were in their run-making slump and went down 5-4 before the Red Sox, thereby losing the American League race of Mickey Cochrane and his heavy hitting Detroit. Gerry Walker again was the big noise, belting a seventh-inning homer for the winning Detroit run to wallop the White Sox 6-5.

In addition to Lee's three hit for the Cards, two other fine fling performances featured the National League problem. Van Lingle Mungo had his first big night and stopped the Phillies with three hits and nine strikeouts, as the Dodgers put on a five-run spree in the eighth for a 5-1 victory. Cliff Melton, south-paw rookie hope of the New York Giants, also whiffed nine and finished on top with a four-hit 3-1 win over the Boston Bees.

City Baseball Meeting Tuesday At City Hall, 7 p. m.

A very important meeting of the City Baseball League will be held at the City Hall at 7 o'clock, Tuesday evening, and the five managers that were present last week are urged to be on time so definite arrangements regarding the rosters and opening game may be made.

As yet no other team has made application for the sixth berth and it may be necessary to run a five-team circuit to constitute the league and in no way was it weakened. The teams that have already signed are: Reddicks, champions of 1936; Borardie, 1935 champs; Grunowals; Rosen-dale, and the Kyanlzo, a new entry.

Thum's Spartans took the first rung in the team standing by achieving a three-game total of 30-40. Two other changes were made when the Capitol bowling team of New York city rolled into fifth place with a 29-21 score and the Doyle Gulf team of Rochester took seventh place with a 28-38 count.

George Yorke and Bay Lucia set up a lofty target for the two-man event by blasting out a 1367 score to take the lead. Eight new two-man teams ousted leaders in the first ten of doubles events.

Only the two Newburgh teams of M. Hadley and W. Gurkin, in third place with 1304 score, and the N. Pulver and McQuiston team, which is in seventh place with 1255 total, held their spots.

Charges included: J. Masterson, S. D'Angelo, North Tarrytown, second, 1348; F. Semon-J. Gelhausen, New York, fourth, 1274; J. Schweitzer-E. Voelgel, fifth, 1262; S. Baum-J. Giannone, New York, sixth, 1261; W. Munn-J. Falcoro, New York, eighth, 1252; B. Suellarmen-A. Johnson, Buffalo, ninth, 1251; L. Mastroianni-J. Mastroianni, New Rochelle, tenth, 1246.

William Munn of New York city went on a strike rampage to bring his nine game total up to 1941, good for first place in the all-events. Shadow D'Angelo of North Tarrytown earned the second spot with a 1919 total.

In the singles, the 715 score run by Art Hooks of Oneonta retained first place but there were seven new names in the first ten after yesterday's bowling.

The standings showed: T. Mahoney, Hempstead, 705, second; J. Schwartzler, Hempstead, 695; L. Barnard, Ithaca, 677; F. Hoofner, Rochester, 676; E. Eckert, Rochester, 670; T. Teleco, Buffalo, 668; B. Evers, Rochester, 665; J. Tantillo, North Tarrytown, 664; M. Starrett, Batavia, 663. The three who retained positions in the singles were Hooks, Barnard and Starrett.

With competition resuming Wednesday the score of 2626 is still in the money in the team event.

Albany was picked as the 1938 tournament city over Buffalo by a 13 to 4 vote. Edwin H. Fisher of Buffalo was named president.

Yanks and Aussies American Zone Aces

(By The Associated Press.)

The United States and Australia emerged as the finalists in the American zone Davis Cup play over the week-end while four teams reached the second round of European zone play.

The Americans, fresh from a 5 to 0 victory over Japan will meet the Australian team, which trimmed Mexico by the same score, at Forest Hills, N. Y., May 29-31. A year ago, the United States' hopes of winning the cup were smashed when the Aussies won the zone final.

Belgium and Switzerland won in the upper half of the European zone; Belgium on a 3-2 score over Hungary, and Switzerland through a victory over Ireland by the same count.

In the other European matches South Africa shut out the Netherlands, 5-0, and New Zealand defeated China, 5-0, in England, 3-2.

The South Africans will play New Zealand in their next match, other European zone pairings are: Upper half—Germany vs. Austria, Sweden vs. Greece, Italy vs. Monaco; lower half—France vs. Norway, Poland vs. Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia vs. Romania.

Belgium and Switzerland won in the upper half of the European zone; Belgium on a 3-2 score over Hungary, and Switzerland through a victory over Ireland by the same count.

Kingston High School battered Ellenville for an 11-1 victory in the initial DUSO league bout at the village's diamond Saturday afternoon.

With Ed Schoonmaker limiting the south Ulsterites to eight scattered singles in his mound debut, the Maroon and White racked up 7 runs in the first two frames. The local powerhouse was stifled for three innings but broke loose after that.

Jimmy Ashdown, Vince Stoll and Tommy Maines led off on a due of Ellenville hurlers for seven safe smashes among the three power trio to pace the localites. Seigle and Everett were the only emcees batmen to garner two hits apiece. Schoonmaker hurled shutout ball as the lone tally crossed the platter as an unearned run during the second inning.

Limiting the hosts to eight scattered singles and showing almost perfect control, Schoonmaker whiffed six village sluggers as he cast his customary spell over the home towners. Only one base on balls was chalked up against the local heavy.

With Schoonmaker in the box, Coach Miller revised his starting lineup, sending Charley Bock to center field in place of Ray Schneider with Tom McManus opening at first instead of Jackie Holstein as the Maroon mentor used his entire varsity squad of 13 players in the one-sided contest.

Three swift double-killings were registered by the local keystone combination with Capt. Chapple Van Derzee as the spearhead of the trio of double plays. Thrice during the contest probable tallies were erased on the basepaths as Van Derzee came up with the ball, plotted to Coley who whipped across to the first sack to complete the double play combination. Coley flashed his best work to date as he scooped up seven chances afield.

Tommy Maines, transplanted third sacker, continued his string of errorless games at the hot corner by appearing six chances down the third base line and lining bullet-like throws across the diamond. Van Derzee stole two bases, collected two hits and made three nice stops.

Rosenstein started for the villagers but gave way to Coley in the second after the locals had blasted him for six hits and seven runs in two innings. Coley allowed only five bingles during the last seven innings as the locals manufactured four runs near the end. Ellenville committed six blunders with Shortstop Earl Smith the chief offender, having three miscues.

How The Runs Came

Kingston went to work in the opening inning racking up four markers on Ashdown's double. Bock's walk, two miscues, and Maines' timely single. The locals kept up the bombing in the second as Coley opened with a double and scored on Jimmy Ashdown's long three batters. Van Derzee's single and steal, Bock's second walk and Maines' double drove in two more runs. Coley entered and held the locals scoreless until the sixth when singles by Ashdown and Van Derzee scored McManus. Two more runs were chalked up in the seventh on Still's walk, Smith's error on Schoonmaker's grounder and Coley's rhyming double which drove them across the payoff platter. Two were out in the 8th when Maines reached first on Friend's miscue and tallied on Vince Stoll's line triple to close the local scoring for the day. Ellenville garnered its lone tally on Nissenmaker's slants.

Hollywood
Sights And Sounds

By HUBBARD KEAVY
HOLLYWOOD—I hadn't had time to dry my eyes when the house lights came on after the preview of "Captains Courageous," and I felt very embarrassed. Then I glanced at the fellow in the adjoining seat, who was Cecil de Mille, and he was crying, too, so I felt much better and not embarrassed at all.
It's that kind of picture, although not entirely. It's the kind that gets you, but it has laughs and thrills in addition to its power of making you share the mental state of its characters. Kipling wrote it and M.G.M. lavished money on its production; and Spencer Tracy and Freddie Bartholomew bring it to life.
Perhaps you know the story, that of the regeneration of a boy. The Portuguese fisherman who saves the boy's life and then develops a paternal affection for him is the extraordinary skill and the naturalness that characterizes Tracy's performance. Professional, calloused picturegoers look for realism; when they are convinced—as all of us were by Tracy's portrayal—the picture must be good.
Young Bartholomew has his best role and, for the benefit of those who have objected to his "foreign" mannerisms and accent, I must say that he is a changed boy. Melvyn Douglas, Lionel Barrymore and many others have supporting roles. The fishing and sailing scenes are as exciting as they are authentic.

Insures Her Account
Margaret Tallichet, from down in the deep south, has had her account insured for $25,000. Lloyd's wrote the policy for the trifling sum of $1 per thousand. Margaret will collect if "through long disassociation with Southerners she loses her ability to speak with that especial drawl and charming slurring of syllables."
Wallace Beery is teaching his daughter, Carol Ann, the fine points of trout fishing.
Al St. John, once a star and now a bit player, was one of the two original Keystone Kops. Fatty Arbuckle was the other.
124 Cousins Turn Up
Michael Whalen can count 124 cousins. He became acquainted with the whereabouts after he entered picture making.
"Walkin' Wedding" offers the trio of "Rhythm on the Range"—Bing Crosby, Marsha Raye, Bob Burns—with Shirley Ross as Bing's romance instead of Frances Farmer. Shirley sings, but not as much as Bing, in a story about a pineapple company and a contest winner who thinks Hawaii is dull until Bing scares up excitement.
Spencer Tracy, having become a boat owner, has decided to go to night school to learn navigation.

WEST HURLEY SCHOOL EXHIBIT A-SUCCESS

On Friday evening, April 30, about 250 pupils attended the Art and Project Exhibit sponsored by the pupils of the West Hurley School at the M. E. Church hall. People who visited the exhibit thought the articles on display showed splendid work on the part of the pupils and teachers.
Hobart A. Rowe donated the lumber for the various objects on display.
During the evening, ice cream, cake and candy were sold. Those in charge of the refreshments were Mrs. Earle Lane, Mrs. Howard Every, Mrs. Norman Cole, Mrs. William Emig, Mrs. Clarence Ostrander and Mrs. Sawyer.
Clayton Vredenburg, trustee of the school, was very much enthused over the work of the children, and was highly pleased the cooperation given to them. He said he desired to publicly commend the efforts of the children and the fine spirit of cooperation shown by teachers, parents, and all those who helped in any way and the public for attending the exhibit.
The length of the Great Wall of China, including all spurs and loops, is estimated at 2,500 miles.

Presbyterians To Hold Mother's Day

Nexa Sunday is Mother's Day and special services are being arranged for that morning in the Rondout Presbyterian Church when it is also planned to ordain and install the two elders and the three new deacons that were elected at the annual meeting in April.

The Woman's Missionary Society will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. John R. Monroe at her home, 291 West Chestnut street.

There will be a meeting of the church session on Wednesday evening at the home of the Rev. James N. Armstrong, Jr. The trustees will meet the same evening at the home of Charles Terwilliger.

The midweek prayer service will be held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. William I. Hutton, 104 Clifton avenue.

A rummage sale will be held by the Woman's Missionary Society at 49 Broadway on May 6, 7 and 8.

Plan To Change Traffic Signal

Tuesday evening at the common council meeting the traffic control committee is expected to submit a report recommending that the stop and go traffic light at Franklin street and Clinton avenue be removed, and full stop signs installed on that corner. The light to be removed is to be installed on Broadway and O'Reilly street, if the report is adopted.

TWO POUGHKEEPSIE BOYS ESCAPE DROWNING SUNDAY

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 3 (AP)—Two youths who narrowly escaped drowning in the Hudson river when the wash of a passing tugboat overturned their canoe, were recovering today from shock and exposure.

In Vassar Hospital was Melvin Massie, 14, who was brought to shore unconscious by two youths also in a canoe. William Kipp, 15, was recovering at his home.

An inhalator was used to revive Massie after he was rescued by Richard Andrews and Kenneth Wanzer, both 18.

Refuses to Resign.

Tokyo, May 3 (AP)—Premier S. Juro Hayashi indicated today he would refuse to heed widespread demands the government resign after its defeat at the polls Friday. The army-supported premier was reported planning either to combat or compromise with opposition political parties which retained about 400 of the 466 parliamentary seats. It was believed the premier could remain in office on the plea that a national emergency exists, making delay of new elections advisable for the country's stability. Political authorities, forecast a period of internal tension.
